Customer Reviews

Great book series. I am using them as a read aloud to supplement our home school story of the world curriculum. The kids love making the choices and seeing their fate. I love that it has pictures within the text. I plan to buy the next era of books next year.

Choose your own adventure meets history! My son loves this book and is continually giving me facts about Rome. It is researched and accessible. As a homeschool parent, this is extremely important to me. I would definitely recommend. This may look like the post I put for the Greece book, but only because it is just as well written

My boys have so enjoyed this interactive book series that we just keep buying more. They love learning history while getting to choose what happens to each character. I love that factual information is woven into each story, so it's a blend of fiction and non-fiction. Definitely appropriate for 8-10 year olds.

What a wonderful concept! The kids feel in control of the story and that their decisions matter. Besides that, this is a well written and interesting story (stories).
